Soaring Higher

Visitor's Guide

Attractions | Hotels

Welcome to Jacksonville

While Jacksonville is best known as the home of the Little Rock Air Force Base, it's also a friendly and affordable base camp for your explorations of central Arkansas. However, you'll find plenty of reasons to stay right here in town.

The newest reason is the 160-acre Arkansas Game and Fish Foundation Shooting Sports Complex, home to skeet and trap shooting.

If you're a history buff, don't miss the Museum of Military History. Or an opportunity to visit the site of the pivotal Civil War Battle of Reed's Bridge and to learn more about life in that era.

The thrift-hound will appreciate our many shops, while families can refuel in a variety of restaurants and rest in reasonably priced hotels.

Of course, your visit could become permanent. Living in Jacksonville has small-town appeal but close proximity to larger attractions in the surrounding area. Our many outdoor parks and community center are convenient ways to stay active close to home. Plus, our Joint Education Center provides degree opportunities for those stationed at the base and Jacksonville residents alike.

There's more to Jacksonville than you ever imagined. Spend time exploring the city, and you'll see why we say we're "Soaring Higher."

Battle of Reed's Bridge Marker 2 on map

The marker commemorates the site where Confederate soldiers held off Federal troops advancing toward Little Rock in August of 1863. The battle took place on the south side of Jacksonville at Reed's Bridge. Led by Brig. Gen. John S. Marmaduke, the soldiers held fast, forcing Union troops to find a new route to Little Rock. A cabin on the site depicts what life was like during the Civil War.

The air is better in Jacksonville.

As a major part of the Jacksonville economy, much of the city's growth is attributed to the Little Rock Air Force Base. It's Jacksonville's largest employer and the only C-130 training facility in the world for the Department of Defense.

On display at the base entrance is a retired C-130 aircraft and the story of its extensive history. Tours of the base are available on a case-by-case basis and should be arranged before arrival in Jacksonville.

Every other year, the thrilling air show opens the base to the public — often attracting more than a quarter of a million people to gape at the gravity-defying, breathtaking acts of the Blue Angels and the Thunderbirds. During the free two-day show, attendees can also walk through numerous planes, sit at the controls, and learn about C-130s and other aircraft.

Air shows are held in the fall of even-numbered years. Visit littlerock.af.mil for more information.

Let our past enrich your present.

If the walls of this town could talk, the stories they would tell. Sit and listen because the historical aspects of Jacksonville offer valuable insights into America's military efforts.

The city is named after founders Nicholas and Elizabeth Jackson, who deeded the land for the railroad right-of-way in 1870. The community developed around the railroad depot and incorporated in 1941 when construction began on the Arkansas Ordnance Plant, which served as the primary supplier of fuses and detonators for WWII.

Shortly before the city had a name, it played an important role in history. The Battle of Reed's Bridge was a significant conflict for Union soldiers attempting to take control of Little Rock. Confederate soldiers at Reed's Bridge thwarted the Union advance. The battlefield site — considered to be one of the most well-preserved Civil War sites in Arkansas — can be explored on the southern edge of the city. The area also includes a cabin to demonstrate what life was like for civilians during that era.

The Civil War — and all other wars, from World Wars to modern conflicts — are the focus of the Museum of Military History. See authentic uniforms, memorabilia, and more on display.

Jacksonville holds one of central Arkansas' best records of the past and adds yet another piece to the fabric of our nation's military history.

On target for family fun.

The Arkansas Game and Fish Foundation Shooting Sports Complex boasts the latest in technology and offers a clean, safe environment for the whole family. It's the largest of its kind in Arkansas and includes:

- Fourteen trap fields
- Three skeet overlays
- Three lit fields
- Areas exclusively for shotguns
- Voice-activated controllers
- Certified coaches
- 5,100-square-foot clubhouse
- Two pavilions
- Appointments offered, not required
- Corporate discounts available

While you're here, check out the pro shop, offering ammunition, ear and eye protection, shirts, hats and more. The complex is conveniently located at 2800 Graham Road and is open Wednesday to Sunday, but may be closed for inclement weather or for scheduled events.

Call 501-241-2441 or visit jacksonvilleshootingcomplex.com for availability.
